

ICKLINGHAM VILLAGER

MAY 2019

Theatre Royal Bury St Edmunds

The Theatre Royal was designed by renowned architect William Wilkins who is famous for designing the National Gallery and University College London. With many of its original features still intact it is the last remaining Regency playhouse in the country, and one of the most beautiful, intimate and historic theatres in the world.

You can find out more about the rich and vibrant history of one of the oldest working theatre buildings in the country. The tours provide a fascinating and lively insight to the theatre's history and last approximately one hour. £7.50 per person (National Trust members can access the tour free, please bring your membership card with you).

Coming on May 12th is a "A fascinating insight into human life on the edge". Terry Waite CBE is a British Quaker, Anglican, humanitarian and author. In the 1980s he was Archbishop of Canterbury's Assistant for Anglican Communion Affairs. As an envoy for the Church of England, he travelled to Lebanon to try to secure the release of four hostages including journalist John McCarthy. He was himself held captive between 1987 and 1991. Terry Waite survived for 1,763 days in captivity, almost four years of which were in solitary confinement.

Martin Bell OBE is one of British Media's most respected war correspondents and will interview Terry on stage at Theatre Royal Bury St Edmunds.

This is a fundraising event to support Theatre Royal.

Police in Suffolk are urging people who fly drones, either commercially or as hobbyists, to be mindful of the locations they operate in at this time of year due to nesting birds.

The county has some very sensitive sites in Suffolk where rare bird breeds, both native and non-native, are either already nesting or will shortly be arriving to do so. Some of these sites are protected from entry, so some users of drone may want to try and get a view from above, using the technology that is available.

People who fly drones are reminded that it is an offence to intentionally or recklessly disturb any wild bird listed on Schedule 1 whilst it is nest building or is in, on or near a nest with eggs or young; or to disturb the dependant young of such a bird.

Sgt Brian Calver from the Rural Crime team said: "From a birds perspective, a drone is likely to be seen as a predator and as such cause distress and disturbance, which amounts to an offence, if nesting. Just causing the bird to momentarily leave the nest is sufficient to commit the offence. We do not want to spoil everyone's enjoyment of the countryside, but we would urge users of drones to be sensible and think twice about where they are flying."

Fabian Harrison, from RSPB Suffolk, said: "Drones can have severe consequences for breeding birds, leading to abandonment and an increased risk of detection by predators. At a time when wildlife already faces so many challenges, we are imploring the public to stay vigilant this summer and keep an eye out for wildlife crime. Remember – if you see a crime in progress, always call 999."

Police would also take the opportunity to remind people that the legislation is also relevant to dog owners around ground nesting birds, so equally we would urge people to be considerate and think about where they let their dogs off the lead.

If officers get evidence of such offences being committed, police will take action, which could potentially result in six months imprisonment or a fine of up to £5,000

- bunch spring onions, sliced into 3cm pieces
- 250gms frozen spinach
- 6 ready-cooked chicken thighs (or 400gms shredded roast chicken leftovers from Sunday lunch)
- 350ml hot chicken stock
- ½ tbsp wholegrain mustard
- 200gms frozen peas
